When I was growing up in Brazil, my father taught me hard work with ethics always pays off. Throughout my life, I’ve found that to be true, whether I’m a kid trying out for the school volleyball team or an executive running the world’s fifth largest food and beverage company, holding the trust of billions of consumers.

We are experiencing unprecedented challenges in our industry today—from resource scarcity and climate change to food insecurity and an ever-evolving consumer. That’s why we’re more active than ever before in advocating for the sustainable health of our people, the planet and the communities where we live and work.

We are more active than ever before in advocating for the sustainable health of our people, the planet and the communities where we live and work.

It’s the right thing to do for the long-term growth of our Company, and it’s the right thing to do for the well-being of society at large.

This belief is inherent to who we are, as it’s embedded in our Company Vision: To Be the Best Food Company, Growing a Better World. Consumer First, Innovation, Quality, Ownership and Integrity are the Values that underpin that Vision.

Guided by our Vision and Values, we have prioritized social responsibility and operationalized our approach—benchmarking our performance, engaging stakeholders, setting goals and, most importantly, establishing the systems and processes to track our performance. This led us to identify four strategic pillars and set ambitious targets to support our work to protect the environment, strengthen our supply chain, improve our products and help end global hunger.

We’re pleased to be issuing this report—our first ever as The Kraft Heinz Company—in reflection of our commitment to engage in an open dialogue with those who share our Vision. We plan to report every other year to keep you informed of our progress against the priorities we’ve laid out, and to hold ourselves accountable to these commitments.

Perhaps our boldest commitment is our pledge to deliver 1 billion meals to people in need by 2021. Hunger impacts a staggering 800 million people worldwide, and as leaders in the food industry, we believe we are well-positioned to be a significant player in the fight against hunger. One of the finest examples of our longstanding commitment to this movement is The Kraft Heinz Micronutrient Campaign, which has been our Company’s signature philanthropic program for over 15 years. In partnership with Rise Against Hunger, The Kraft Heinz Micronutrient Campaign supports children’s health and development through the production and donation of micronutrient powders—developed by our Kraft Heinz food science and nutrition experts—which provide 18 essential vitamins and minerals to combat global malnutrition.

Environmental issues related to our climate and natural resources are also impacting the world in ways we’ve never seen before. In response, we’ve dedicated considerable resources to amplifying our sustainability focus in our manufacturing and supply chain operations. We’ve set aggressive environmental goals and prioritized responsible stewardship of resources. We’ve strengthened our current sustainable sourcing practices while introducing others. We believe our ability to consistently provide quality products to consumers begins at the source, so we’ve also partnered with non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and initiated programs at the farm level to reinforce the sustainability of our supply chain.

Switching gears to the consumer—who is at the forefront of everything we do—we’re keenly aware of the incredible transformation our industry is experiencing with respect to the way consumers interact with companies and brands. They increasingly expect the products they buy to reflect their own unique values, and they want to know more about what’s in their food. We’ve been listening and learning, and are answering this call in various ways. We’re removing artificial ingredients and striving for simpler ingredient lines, like with our iconic Kraft Mac & Cheese and Oscar Mayer Hot Dog brands. We’re investing in innovation. We’re increasing access to positive nutrients in our products like protein and calcium, and limiting ingredients like sodium and sugar, as in our Heinz Tomato Ketchup and Beanz in Europe.

In the end, it’s our passionate, dedicated employees who play the most critical roles in achieving our business and societal objectives. We’ve made significant progress in the last two years, but we have a lot of work ahead. We know the future road will be challenging at times, but we remain committed to delivering this strategy and finding new ways to drive meaningful change in society. We’re a global business, but we’re global citizens, too.

Perhaps our boldest commitment is our pledge to deliver 1 billion meals to people in need by 2021.”

I hope you’ll take the time to get to know us a little bit better by continuing to read our inaugural CSR Report. Thanks again for your interest in our business and community practices as we Grow a Better World.

Employee Code of Conduct

Kraft Heinz and its employees conduct business in an ethical and transparent manner, guided by our Vision, Values and a commitment to integrity. All employees, officers and Directors are required to abide by the Company’s Global Code of Conduct in an effort to prevent harassment, discrimination, forced labor (including human trafficking and slavery), conflicts of interest, insider trading, antitrust violations and other unacceptable behaviors, and to guide our businesses to perform and behave in a consistently legal and ethical manner. The Global Code of Conduct forms the foundation of our corporate policies and procedures and fosters ethical behavior. We provide regular training and require employees to certify their understanding and agreement to abide by the Code’s principles and requirements.

Supplier Guiding Principles

Kraft Heinz Supplier Guiding Principles are an important part of our larger strategy to provide safe and delicious products. We ask all domestic and international suppliers, co-packers and joint venture partners to comply with our Supplier Guiding Principles. The principles allow for consistency across operations to uphold high standards of quality and service. They also require compliance with local labor and environmental laws.

As part of our investment in the continuous development and professional growth of our workforce, we established “Ownerversity”—an online corporate training and development platform. It provides employees with training in several areas, including finance, marketing, methodology and sales, equipping them with the skills necessary to excel in their current roles and preparing them to take on greater challenges in the future.

A Culture of Meritocracy

Our culture is best summarized in one word: Ownership. Each of our employees think and act like owners of the business—regardless of function, level, title or background—and treat every dollar as if it were their own. Kraft Heinz recognizes and rewards outstanding performance at every level, in the true spirit of meritocracy. In 2016, more than 1,700 employees were promoted as a result of their high performance and value creation.

Diversity and Inclusion

Because we believe diversity is a driver of creativity, innovation and growth for our business, Kraft Heinz is committed to building a diverse workforce and inclusive culture. We foster a work environment that embraces differences and values the unique perspectives brought by our talented global workforce. All of our employees have the opportunity to realize their career goals, regardless of race, gender, beliefs or background.

Workplace Safety

Kraft Heinz is committed to providing a healthy, safe and secure workplace for employees and all people who visit our facilities. The best-practice Kraft Heinz Safety Process (KHSP) management model drives continuous improvement toward world-class performance. Due to robust site-level implementation, Kraft Heinz improved its safety KPIs over last year, representing some of the best results among our food and beverage industry peers. Kraft Heinz has delivered year-on-year incident reductions for the past six years. Our Total Recordable Incident Rate—a medical incident rate based on the U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration record-keeping criteria—in 2016 was 1.10, a 40 percent improvement over 2015.

Employee Engagement

We believe living our values means being open to new ideas and opportunities to improve. In 2016, we sought the input of employees in our first-ever global Employee Engagement Survey. Eighty-six percent of total participants responded to the survey. These results informed action plans to help enhance our workplace culture now and for the future.

Employee Health and Wellness

We recognize our employees’ personal health and well-being have a direct impact on their ability to thrive at work and in life. Eligible employees have access to comprehensive healthcare benefits, retirement programs, insurances and life coaching assistance programs relevant for the local markets.
In 2016, Kraft Heinz conducted a materiality assessment to drive our CSR strategy and goal-setting. The assessment allowed us to identify and carefully consider the environmental and social issues that are of greatest concern to our stakeholders and could have an impact on the long-term success of our business. The results highlight areas of opportunity and risk to help focus our overall strategy and improve our performance.

To identify our material issues, we engaged a variety of stakeholders and collected input across several topic areas.
When reviewing materiality, we filtered potential issues by considering the following questions:

- How does the issue align with our Vision, Values and overarching business strategy?
- Is the issue important to a large segment of our stakeholders?
- Does the issue have the potential to affect our operations, brands and/or reputation?
- Does the issue have the potential to influence our ability to deliver world-class products?
- Does the issue have the potential to affect our employees, suppliers, customers or communities?

Through the assessment, we identified these material issues and considered them when forming our CSR strategy.

Strategic Enterprise Risk Management

Kraft Heinz has an established, comprehensive approach to Strategic Enterprise Risk Management (SERM). We annually interview the Extended Leadership Team and survey approximately 250 senior management personnel across Kraft Heinz to assess the business on both internal and external risk factors. The SERM survey covers a broad spectrum of risks across several dimensions: strategic, financial, operational, legal and regulatory, human capital, and hazard/catastrophic. From the executive interviews and management survey data, the SERM program prioritizes the risks and develops the Kraft Heinz risk profile, which is shared with the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors annually.
When Kraft Heinz was formed in 2015, we prioritized corporate citizenship and sustainability efforts. We began with stakeholder engagement and a materiality analysis, and then leveraged our findings to focus on high-priority issues in areas where we can make the greatest impact. Those findings also guided our development of four key pillars: Better Supply Chain, Better Environment, Better Products and Better Communities.

Our goal is to build trust among our Company’s broad set of stakeholders by promoting socially responsible practices across our supply chain, setting aggressive environmental goals, improving the products we sell and making impactful advancements in communities—all with a commitment to transparency and two-way dialogue.

Sustainable Development Goals

On September 25, 2015, the United Nations published the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), representing a universal call to action to end poverty, protect the planet and ensure prosperity for all. Kraft Heinz considered these goals while prioritizing our CSR actions, and our commitments and global initiatives support eight of the 17 SDGs.

Better Supply Chain

We’re building a sustainable supply network focused on responsible sourcing.

Better Environment

We’re helping protect the environment and caring for our earth’s natural resources.

Better Products

We’re making the foods people love even better.

Better Communities

We’re helping end global hunger and malnutrition.
Better Supply Chain

We believe in a sustainable, global supply chain. Establishing responsible farm-to-market ingredient and material sourcing policies and practices helps us deliver world-class products today and tomorrow. We’ve taken significant steps to strengthen and expand our policies and will emphasize continuous improvement in coming years.
Treating Animals with Care, Understanding and Respect

Kraft Heinz is committed to the humane treatment of animals, and we prioritize continuous improvement in animal welfare. Although we do not own and operate farms, we expect our suppliers to adhere to strict standards and ensure animals are raised in accordance with animal welfare laws and ordinances in the locale where they are raised. These standards are detailed in both our Global Animal Welfare Policy and our supplier product specifications. Global highlights include:

- Guided by the Five Freedoms of Animal Welfare
- Increased Welfare for Broiler Chickens by 2024
- Cage-Free Environments for Egg-Laying Hens by 2025
- Zero-Tolerance Policy for Abuse
- Elimination of Gestation Stalls for Pregnant Sows by 2025
- Mitigation and/or Elimination of Painful Procedures
- Judicious Use of Medically Important Antibiotics
- No Unnecessary Testing on Animals
Purchasing Sustainable and Traceable Palm Oil

Given its versatility, global demand for palm oil has more than doubled in the last 10 years, and this exceptional growth has brought economic and employment benefits for millions of palm oil producers. However, it has also elevated unprecedented threats to the forests, wildlife and people in areas where the crop is grown. We share the industry’s collective concern around these social and environmental risks.

To ensure our purchases do not contribute to deforestation, loss of biodiversity or social issues such as forced and child labor and human trafficking, Kraft Heinz seeks to procure palm oil products in an ethical, transparent, responsible and sustainable manner. Although we only use a small amount of palm oil globally, we are committed to sourcing 100 percent of our palm oil according to responsible and sustainable practices. Thus, we have established a comprehensive policy to address and manage the environmental and social issues that can be present in palm oil supply chains.

Kraft Heinz is an active member of the Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil (RSPO) and has recently partnered with the Rainforest Alliance, an international nonprofit organization dedicated to conserving biodiversity and ensuring sustainable livelihoods, to support us in the implementation of our sustainable palm oil sourcing policy.

Sourcing Sustainably to Protect the Environment and Our Society

Growing Better Food Around the World

The Kraft Heinz Global Agriculture Program ensures key crops used in Kraft Heinz products are safe for consumers and helps suppliers and their farmers increase productivity.

- Greater yields
- Increased organic matter percentage in soils
- Improved water retention
- Improved irrigation/decreased water use
- Reduced chemical use
- Minimized soil erosion
- Decreased energy, waste and pollution
- Increased worker safety

Supporting Coffee Farmers at Origin

We believe quality coffee starts at the source, which involves responsible sourcing and supporting the hard-working and dedicated farmers at origin. Our goal is to improve both the value of production output and the producer’s quality of life.

In 2015, Kraft Heinz partnered with TechnoServe, a global nonprofit organization that focuses on breaking cycles of poverty in the developing world by strengthening business and technical skills. Together, we’re assisting 2,000 smallholder coffee farmers in Honduras by delivering training and resources to help them increase their yields and income so they can better nourish their families for years to come.

To date, farmers in this program achieved incremental income, coffee yield increases and greater yield quality.

Sourcing Socially Responsible Seafood

Kraft Heinz prioritizes sustainable seafood and knows today’s consumers desire more transparency than ever. Kraft Heinz Foodservice is working with The Tuna Store to offer two new brands of high-quality tuna products to our foodservice customers. As part of the Tri Marine Group of Companies, The Tuna Store is able to control every link in the supply chain, providing quality, sustainability and traceability from fish to finished product, including catch vessel, captain, catch method, catch area and species of fish.

In Australia, we have committed to stop using fish aggregating devices (FAD) in all tuna sourcing activities. All Greenseas products manufactured by Kraft Heinz are transitioning to FAD-free tuna. We expect to be fully transitioned by the end of 2017.
We believe taking care of our planet is a key priority. Managing our footprint and reducing our resource needs minimizes impact today while preserving natural resources for future generations. The onset of this journey centers on our global manufacturing network, with our longer-term vision including opportunities to expand into our broader supply chain.

Reducing our environmental footprint, currently defined as reducing greenhouse gas emissions, energy, water and waste-to-landfill by 15 percent by 2020 (vs. a 2015 baseline; per ton of product) across our global manufacturing network, is a priority for Kraft Heinz. We recognize the significant environmental concern climate change presents. We know there are opportunities for improvement at every stage of our operations, so our teams prioritize ongoing sustainable concepts and strategies—a continuous cycle of identifying ways to get better and implementing more efficient processes.

Kraft Heinz annually discloses its strategy, approach, risks, opportunities and footprint via the CDP’s (formerly the Carbon Disclosure Project) Climate, Water and Forests questionnaires. Our responses in full can be found here.
Conserving the Earth’s Natural Resources

Managing Our Carbon Footprint to Mitigate Risks of Climate Change

To drive progress in reducing our energy use and greenhouse gas emissions, we have developed and implemented a number of platforms, including a process to improve our energy consumption via energy conservation management (ECM); an energy metering and monitoring (EMM) system; and a program to assess and implement renewable energy projects globally. We have also advanced renewable energy projects to the implementation phase at three manufacturing sites—Fresno, Calif., Albany, Minn., and Aligarh, India—and will continue exploring feasibility for additional projects globally.

Assessing Our Operations to Find Opportunities for Water Conservation

As a food and beverage company, having access to good, quality, fresh water is vital for our operations. We rely on this resource both as an ingredient in our products and a key utility in our manufacturing, cleaning and sanitation processes. We have developed global partnerships with two external organizations that have significant expertise in water efficiency—Ecolab’s Food & Beverage and Nalco Water divisions and SUEZ. These partnerships help us identify opportunities for water reduction and conservation in our manufacturing operations through comprehensive assessments of current operational practices and manufacturing assets. We have implemented technology at 52 manufacturing sites globally that allows us to better manage water chemistry and inputs so our manufacturing assets operate more efficiently and for longer.

Sending Less Waste to Landfill

Reducing the amount of solid waste generated from our manufacturing operations has a broad, positive impact on the environment. Our goal is simple: generate less waste and find new uses for the waste we do produce. We are achieving results by changing behavior, business practices and culture. As of 2016, six Kraft Heinz facilities have achieved zero-waste-to-landfill status. We are further driving progress by partnering with service providers to identify alternative outlets for waste, such as recycling, energy recovery or, for organic material, re-use as an ingredient in animal feed.
Better Products

We believe in making the foods people love even better. Finding ways to improve our products is something we do every day, because consumers should feel good about eating our products and serving them to their families. We remain committed to improving the nutrition and wellness profiles of our products to support consumers’ wants and needs through product renovation, innovation and nutrition resources.
Making Better Products

Kraft Heinz is committed to providing choices that meet the nutrition and wellness needs and demands of today’s consumers, which continue to evolve. Our internal guidelines for Nutrition & Wellness provide a framework for meeting these needs wherever feasible through product development and renovation. We continually monitor current science and trends to inform our decisions and evolve our product portfolio accordingly.

Nutrition guidelines are the foundation of our nutrition and wellness approach. Products that meet these nutrition guidelines more closely align with current authoritative dietary recommendations and are specific to the product category and geography. While regionally variable, these guidelines, developed by Kraft Heinz dietitians and nutritionists, typically focus on the categories below.

Nutrients to Limit
Limiting calories, saturated fat, sodium and sugar.

Nutrients, Food Groups, and Ingredients to Encourage
Includes positive nutrients like calcium, fiber and iron; and food groups and/or ingredients such as vegetables, fruits, dairy and whole grains.

Wellness Attributes
Offering choices that are natural, organic and/or with no artificial flavors, preservatives or dyes.

WE WILL EXPAND OUR NUTRITION GUIDELINES GLOBALLY AND ACHIEVE 70% COMPLIANCE BY 2023.
Meeting Consumer Demand

Innovation

Innovation is a core Value at Kraft Heinz and is central to our success. We are constantly researching, developing and launching products that reflect modern tastes, leading trends and consumer preferences. We are committed to improving the nutrition profile of our products and providing choices that help consumers feel better about the foods they eat.

Renovation

Kraft Heinz boasts years of successful efforts to improve the nutrition and wellness attributes across many of our brands and products, and we continue to incorporate meaningful nutrition and wellness attributes into products across our portfolio. Our current priorities include removing artificial dyes, flavors and preservatives; reducing sodium and added sugar where possible; and offering more choices with simpler ingredients.

Food Safety

As a globally trusted producer of delicious foods, Kraft Heinz implements a consistent, comprehensive food safety management process across our global supply chain. Our Quality Risk Management Process is the backbone of the Kraft Heinz Food Safety and Quality program and serves as the best-in-class management system to ensure food is manufactured safely, complies with local regulations and meets or exceeds the quality standards we’ve set for our products.
